PRICE THREE CENTS

300 ATTEND 23RD FARM MEETING; 15 DIRECTORS ARE ELECTED

With the largest attendance of any meeting in the history of the organization, the Adams County Agricultural Extension association conducted its twenty-third annual meeting in the Gettysburg high school auditorium this morning and afternoon. More than 300 county farmers and their wives attended with President Harry E. Brown, Fairfield, presiding.

Accepting the report of a special nominating committee named this morning, the association elected two new directors and re-named 12 former board members for another term of one year. The board will meet in the near future to elect its officers.

The new members are Glenn Slaybaugh, Gettysburg, R. D., manager of the Blue Ribbon orchards between Arendtsville and McKnightstown, and Mrs. H. R. Griest, York Springs. Mr. Slaybaugh succeeds the late Roy M. Raffensperger, of Butler township, and Mrs. Griest succeeds Mrs. Luther M. Lady, Biglerville.

Directors Re-Elected

The directors who were re-elected follow:

PARISH COUNCIL MARKS CATHOLIC PRESS MONTH

Catholic Press month was observed at the regular monthly meeting of the parish council of Catholic Women which was held in the parochial social rooms on West High street, Monday evening. Sixty members were present.

Miss Ruth Hamilton, secretary, read an article on "The Holy Father, an Inspiration to the Catholic Press."

After the reports of the various committees were read, the Rev. Fr. Raphael Gross spoke in reference to the exhibit of seventy publications of Catholic newspapers and magazines which were obtained to be displayed and distributed to the members, as part of the program to celebrate Catholic Press month. He said these were a very small number of the many publications of the Catholic press.

Members of the reading club, which was organized at last month's meeting, were provided with newly purchased books by the latest and most prominent Catholic authors. After these books are read by the club members they will be placed in the library. Father Gross announced the opening of the parish library, which contains about 650 books in about a week.

Mrs. Stanley Paluskiewicz gave a statistical report of the work of the Catholic press, on the number of magazines and newspapers, how often published, the languages in which they appear and circulation. She also explained the establishment of Catholic Press Month by the bishops and archbishops in 1920.

Miss Mary Eberhart read a paper on "Why Don't Catholics Read," written by Sheila K. Smith. Miss Betty Knox gave a brief sketch of the life and work of Saint Francis de Sales, the patron of the Catholic press.

Mrs. Bertha Culp gave an entertainment in the form of a monologue "Fuss on the Bus."

Following the meeting a social hour was enjoyed. The next meeting will be held Monday, March 6.

COUNTIAN IS HELD FOR COURT

Four pupils of the Orrtanna grammar school and their teacher, Miss Sara A. Miller, Fairfield, testified against Louis Metz, Hamilton township, at a hearing Monday evening before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore at which a surety of the peace count against Metz was ailed.

Metz denied any threats toward Miss Miller, who brought the charge against him, although the teacher and pupils said Metz had visited the school once in November and again last week and frightened the youngsters, many of whom hid in the cloak room as Metz arrived at the schoolhouse. On one visit he threatened to strike Miss Miller, it was testified.

After the hearing the defendant was returned to the county jail in default of $500 bail for April court.

Visit Florida Gardens

DR. AND MRS. HENRY W. A. HANSON
Photographed in McKee Jungle Gardens in Florida

Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg college, and Mrs. Hanson, were recent guests in Vero Beach, Florida, at the Driftwood hotel. They visited the McKee Jungle Gardens while in Vero Beach. In an interview, Doctor Hanson praised the gardens as "the gem of all Florida." He said: "That in all my extensive travel which included the Panama jungle and European botanical gardens, I have never seen anything that surpassed the natural beauty found in the gardens."

The itinerary which Dr. and Mrs. Hanson followed during their ten days in Florida took them to many beautiful sights and they expressed their regrets in having a limited time in Florida. Dr. Hanson, upon leaving the gardens remarked: "No one has seen Florida in its true setting until they have seen the McKee Jungle Gardens."

The Driftwood, as the name implies, is made of driftwood picked up along the coast and a rustic atmosphere is portrayed along with all the modern appliances.

Doctor Hanson said that he foresaw the Driftwood becoming a haven for writers and artists.

Dr. and Mrs. Hanson continued on from Vero Beach to St. Augustine where they visited the many historical spots of the oldest city in America.

2 From High School on All-State Orchestra

Miss Mary Spangler and Miss Lena Hartzell, both of Gettysburg, have been selected as members of the all-state high school orchestra which will play at the musical festival Thursday, Friday and Saturday, February 23, 24 and 25, at Johnstown.

Miss Spangler plays second violin and Miss Hartzell plays the flute.

ASK TOWN TO BUY EQUIPMENT AND PAY MESSENGER FOR MAIL PICK UP

Following a conference Monday afternoon at the Gettysburg post-office between a dozen Gettysburg businessmen and officials of All American Aviation, Inc., Wilmington, Delaware, the firm which was awarded the contract for the pick up and delivery air mail service between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia by the Postoffice department, tentative selection of a site for the air mail station here was made by the aviation company officials.

Richard C. duPont, president; Dr. Lytle S. Adams, vice president of the firm, who developed the air mail pick up service in West Virginia and Ohio, and James G. Ray, operations manager for the contracting firm, reported on preparations their company is making to give the "finest service" possible on the new air route on which Gettysburg and 52 other Pennsylvania towns and cities are included.

The visiting aviation officials asked that the community, as an indication of its interest in the development of the air mail service here permanently with the possible addition of air express and passenger routes to follow, co-operate with the All American Aviation concern by spending $150 for necessary equipment for the pick up and delivery of air mail here and paying an estimated $300 for messenger service (Continued on Page Two)

Driver Who Forced Car Off Road Fails to Stop

Danner A. Peters, Gardners R. D., teacher at West Point school in Menallen township and president of the Adams County Market Growers' association, escaped injury but his car was damaged when it was forced off the Gettysburg-Carlisle highway this morning as Mr. Peters drove toward school from his home.

The operator of the other car is reported to have failed to stop. Mr. Peters reported the accident to state motor police and Officer William I. Banzhaf was conducting an investigation this afternoon.

Presbyterian Society To Sponsor Church Play

"Best Years," a play sponsored by the Women's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church, will be presented in the church social hall Friday evening, February 17.

The play is being directed by Mrs. Q. W. Hershey, who is assisted by Mrs. Milton Tipton.

Proceeds of the play will be used toward paying off the church debt.

APPLY FOR LICENSE

The following have filed marriage license applications in York:

Roy Edgar Bowers, Littlestown R. 1, and Margaret Eleanor Hesson, York; Dale Howard Sylvester Stener and Dorothy Romaine Linebaugh, both of East Berlin R. 2, and Arthur Ashby Harper, McSherrystown, and Mildred Irene Sterner, Hanover.

REVIVAL SERVICES

Revival services are being continued each evening, except Saturday, at Sheely's United Brethren church. All services are at 7:30 o'clock.

Police End Crash Probe

Private D. Harris, senior motor police officer in charge of the investigation of the accident in which Ray Cutshall, 19, Biglerville R. 1, was fatally injured Sunday said this morning that his probe of the crash has been completed and that he does not intend to file any criminal charges against Carey F. Showers, 24, Biglerville R. D., driver of the death car.

Dr. Edgar A. Miller, Adams county coroner, said today he intends to conduct an inquest into the fatality. The time has not been set, he said, but indicated it will be conducted some time next week.

400 Licenses Blanks Held; Addresses Faulty

More than 400 application forms for automobile operators' licenses are being held at the Gettysburg postoffice as undeliverable because the addressees no longer reside at the address indicated on the forms. Carriers may not deliver applications if the proper address is not shown. An old street number or rural route number will keep the application in the postoffice, Postmaster C. A. Williams stated today.

More than 500 applications for auto license plates never were delivered and later were destroyed at the local postoffice because proper addresses were not given, the postmaster stated.

Wreckage of Death Car

Shown above is the car in which Ray Cutshall and two companions were riding Sunday evening when it collided with a culvert on the Biglerville road near here. Cutshall died later in the Warner hospital. At the left is the abutment lying in a ditch after it was dislodged by the impact of the crash.

7 REPUBLICANS TO RE-ORGANIZE ON 'JOB' BOARD SCOUT TROOP 76

At a special meeting of the executive committee of the Adams county republican organization Monday evening in the offices of the county chairman, John H. Basehore, a seven-man patronage committee was chosen which will be in charge of the distribution of G. O. P. jobs in this county.

The committee includes: County Chairman Basehore, S. Luther Baltzley, Gettysburg R. D., who was primary campaign manager for Governor James in this county last year; Assemblyman G. R. Thompson, Gettysburg; Dr. Eugene Elgin, East Berlin, member of the state republican committee from this county; Joseph I. Miller, New Oxford; Paul Rohrbaugh, Fairfield, and E. V. Bullett, Esq., Gettysburg. The last three men are members of the executive committee.

Following the meeting, it was announced that the patronage committee's "definite approval" must be given any application for a state position before Chairman Basehore can sign the application as the applicant's official sponsor. The county chairman cannot sign applications rejected or not acted upon by the patronage board, it was stated.

No action was taken by the new group Monday evening on the approximately 1,100 applications for state jobs which have been filed in the county chairman's office by claimants since the election last November.

The first meeting of the patronage dispensers is to be held Wednesday evening. It has not been announced whether applications will be considered at that time.

Selection of the G. O. P. patronage group was in line with instructions sent out last week by the party's state high command.

PROTEST '3RD' STATE HIGHWAY

Harrisburg, Feb. 7 (AP)—Protests of approximately 50 businessmen against construction of Pennsylvania's "super highway" were considered today by Secretary of Highways I. Lamont Hughes.

The protests of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce and the Gettysburg Motor club of Adams county were among those received by the highway secretary.

Council Retains 17-Mill Tax Rate; Hopes to Cut $14,000 Off Local Debt

Acting upon the recommendation of their finance committee as presented by President Ray M. Hoffman, members of the Gettysburg borough council at their regular February session Monday evening tentatively adopted a budget for 1939 based on the same tax rate as was levied last year — 12 mills for general purposes and five mills for the special fund.

The Borough's Budget

The following table shows in parallel columns the amounts budgeted for the various departments in 1938, the amounts spent in that year and estimated expenditures for 1939 as found in the budget approved Monday evening by borough council.

	1938	1938	1939
	Budget	Expenditures	Budget
Highway	$12,000	$10,703	$12,000
Safety (fire and police)	10,000	7,148	8,500
Finance (salaries, supplies and interest)	3,500	3,479	5,000
Sewer and sewage disposal plant	5,000	3,030	5,000
Property	500	242	500
Health	500	474	500
Water	1,500	1,063	1,500
Light	6,000	5,549	6,000
Market	1,000	880	1,000
Miscellaneous	700	246	700

With one unimportant change the new budget is identical with the 1938 schedule of anticipated revenue and costs adopted a year ago. Provision is made to meet expenses of $40,700 but it was emphasized that there is no intention that the town's expenses shall go that high this year. In 1938 council spent only $33,406.04 of the budgeted $40,700, according to figures cited by President Hoffman.

By keeping the tax rate at its present level, councilmen foresee a cut of about $14,000 in the borough's debt during this year.

Interesting figures pointed out by President Hoffman, as fellow councilmen scanned the report of the borough auditors for 1938, included the following statements:

In 1937 the borough spent $5,000 more than it received, while in 1938 it received $4,985 more than it spent with $5,000 being applied to a reduction of the borough's loans; at the end of 1937 the borough's total indebtedness was $104,205 as compared with a total of $91,872 at the end of 1938, and the fact that there was a total reduction of $12,333 in the town's bonded and temporary loan obligations during 1938.

Of the $91,000 owed at the end of last year, $22,500 was in notes and the remainder in bonds.

No new sources of revenue are contemplated in the 1939 budget. The theatre tax will be continued after gathering $3,025 for the town last year.

The subject of parking meters was not mentioned Monday evening over the council table. Councilman Clyde D. Berger, who has backed the meter movement here for the last year, told a Gettysburg Times reporter the question was postponed for one month because of the absence of two members, William F. Weaver and Samuel D. Weikert, who were unable to attend because of illness.

The 1939 budget, which was adopted by unanimous vote of those present, will be placed on public inspection in the office of the burgess in the engine house. The only change from the schedule of last year is the transfer of $1,500 from the sum for the safety department to the finance committee.

The auditors' report showed a cash balance of $909 at the end of last year in the general fund. Taxes from regular and previous levies netted $28,169. More than $1,000 was received from tax liens, and $7,180 from Burgess C. A. Heiges through collections for fines, fees and permits.

W.P.A. TO GRADE LAND AT ARMORY

As a York contractor began work on miscellaneous construction, bringing nearer to completion the interior of Gettysburg's new armory on West Confederate avenue, Captain Ralph C. Deatrick, commander of the local unit of the National Guard, revealed that he had been authorized to sponsor a W.P.A. project for the landscaping and grading of the armory grounds and the placing of walks and drives.

R. S. Noonan, York, began operations at the armory on Monday where the general contractor left off last August. Noonan's contract, however, does not call for the installation of maple wood floors and an emergency lighting system in the armory—improvements which bar completion of the building and which are awaiting the necessary funds.

Both National Guard and state authorities are reported to be desirous of completing the local armory as soon as possible. To date it has been used only for drilling of recruits.

At the regular weekly drill period on Monday evening Captain Deatrick announced the names of two new recruits who bring the personnel of Company E to full strength. The new men are Eugene J. Gelwicks, of Chambersburg street, and Andrew C. Kuni, also of Gettysburg.

LEGION ADDS 4 MEMBERS; WILL FORM NEW CLUB

Members of the Albert J. Lentz post, No. 202, of the American Legion, at a regular meeting Monday evening set their next meeting night, February 20, as the time for the adoption of by-laws for the Last Man's club to be formed by members of the veterans' post who are in good standing. At the same time the date for the first annual banquet of the new organization will be set.

The proposals for the formation of the club will be presented at the next meeting by a special committee headed by Howard W. Sheffer, a past commander. The club's charter will be closed on the night of the first banquet.

With the admission of four new members on Monday the enrollment in the local post climbed to 210. The new members are Robert P. Deatrick, Hunterstown, and George Miller, Joseph Codori and Donald McPhail, all of Gettysburg.

It was announced that the testing of the approximately 25 members of the post who have volunteered as prospective blood donors for emergency calls at the Warner hospital will begin today at the hospital. The type of blood available from each volunteer will be recorded and the list kept available for call at any time.

The post donated $2.50 to the Y. W. C. A.'s annual drive for funds.

An oyster supper for post members will be served Friday evening beginning at 6:30 o'clock and continuing throughout the evening at the post home, it was announced.

Commander Horace E. Smiley presided with about 60 members in attendance. New additions to the post's sick list included James R. McConaghe, national park superintendent who is a patient in the Naval hospital in Philadelphia, and Lawrence E. Oyler, who is recuperating at his home on Baltimore street from a recent illness.

MEETING DATE CHANGED

The February meeting of the Adams County Principals' association will be held at Arendtsville Wednesday, February 22, instead of February 15 as previously planned.

HISTORIC YORK CHURCH BURNS

York, Pa., Feb. 7 (AP)—Historic St. Paul's Lutheran church, first English Lutheran church established in York, was swept by fire early today causing damage which firemen estimated may total $150,000.

The church was built 102 years ago.

Firemen expressed belief the blaze may have started from the boiler room. The custodian said fires were in order when he left the church about 6 p. m. Monday.

A general alarm at midnight called out all of the city's fire-fighting apparatus.

Rev. Dr. A. O. Frank is pastor of the church. He went to York from Albuquerque, New Mexico.

COUNCIL KEEPS 17 MILLS AS TAX RATE; HOPES TO CUT TOWN'S DEBT

with a balance of $1,042, the report shows. That fund received $11,420 from current and previous tax levies and paid out $6,000 for bond redemption and nearly $3,000 to redeem coupons.

The report is signed by Auditors S. Richard Eisenhart, John W. Hewitt and Carl S. Menchey.

Gives Opinion on Ordinance
On Monday evening the councilmen approved a $1,700 loan for the general fund to meet current expenses after Treasurer Fred G. Pfeiffer announced a balance of only $138 in that fund. A recent $1,000 loan to the special fund was ratified by council. General fund expenditures for the first month of this year were given at $3,461.

In an opinion included in a letter addressed to council, Solicitor E. V. Bullett stated he regarded it "very doubtful" whether the conviction of a contractor or carpenter doing work for another person could be sustained in court if the borough should seek to hold such persons responsible for violations of the building ordinance which was adopted in 1936.

The borough attorney had been asked by council last month to learn whether the contractor, who they felt should have a knowledge of local building regulations, could be held responsible for buildings erected or altered in violation of the town's ordinance. In his letter Mr. Bullett pointed out that fire underwriters have model ordinances and that the adoption of one suitable to Gettysburg would result in a reduction of fire insurance rates.

Council has been troubled for months by property holders who have built or altered buildings illegally and claimed ignorance of the provisions of the borough code.

To Study Building Code
The borough fathers heard Monday evening of another promised infraction by a resident who considered as unfair the present building ordinance banning frame structures within 1,000 feet of center square.

Looking toward a revision of the ordinance, the question was turned over to the safety committee for study and a report at the next meeting.

Stating that a building is to be erected along Hanover street between Fourth and Fifth streets this spring, Howard Williams, Hanover street, came before council to ask the ordination of the alley to the north of Hanover street in that block. Giving directions to the surveyor to give Williams the property lines and grade, President Hoffman placed Williams' request in the hands of the highway committee.

Joseph Codori and Morris Gitlin appeared before council to voice their objections as abutting property holders to the reported move to have the borough vacate Constitution avenue in the northwest section of the borough. Council said it knew officially of no move for vacation of the street.

Stream Is Blocked
Necessary repairs to the course and banks of the headwaters of Winebrenner's run at South Washington street were ordered by council after Mrs. Roy Williams, colored, told the members the cellar of her home is flooded frequently by water from the overflowing stream. It was stated that temporary conduits for sections of the stream placed several years ago during a mosquito eradication campaign had collapsed and blocked the stream.

Councilman Berger reported on a new state law, effective the first of next year, which will outlaw all present traffic lights in Gettysburg. The cost of new equipment would be about $1,000, he said. Council authorized the purchase of a truck from William Scott for 1 and gave Mr. Scott an option on the vehicle to buy it back at the same price during the year. Mr. Scott has loaned the town the use of the truck for some time.

Members voted to have flags displayed in center square on February 21 and 22.

Burgess Collects $526
Council renewed its membership in the State Association of Boroughs and the borough secretary and burgess announced they expect to attend a forthcoming convention of the organization in Harrisburg.

Burgess Helges reported, showed collections of $526.27, itemized as follows for the month of January: Building permits, $2; digging permits, $59; guides' licenses, $3; theatres, $392.27; roller hire in 1937, $66, and overtime parking fines, $94.

The meeting was attended by President Hoffman, Councilmen F. B. Slonaker, D. D. Kendelhart, H. M. Oyler, William H. Scott, J. P. Oyler, and Clyde D. Berger, Secretary Wilmer Dracha, Solicitor Bullett, Burgess Helges, Treasurer Fred G. Pfeiffer and Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner attended.

Ask Town to Buy Equipment for Air Mail Pick Up

between the post office and the pick up point. The request for help to that extent from this community is to be laid before the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce within a week by M. B. Frazee, Chamber president, who was in the group that conferred Monday in the office of Postmaster C. A. Williams.

Doctor Adams explained that five new Stinson planes, each equipped with two-way radios and other equipment beyond that specifically required by the government contract, have been purchased for use in the service to begin operating on schedule June 1. Trial runs are to be made after May 1 and all equipment must be in place by that time.

Select Site
Examining four sites which had been under consideration for the pick up point, the aviation company officials, who were accompanied by Postmaster Williams after the conference at the postoffice, reported tentative selection of a point on the crest of the hill immediately east of town along the Hanover road, sometimes known as Rock Creek heights. A strip of government land, forming a dead-end avenue there, is to be used if government permission can be secured.

Two 40-foot poles, set in concrete, and a storage space for ropes and other equipment will be placed there. The equipment is more elaborate and operates more smoothly than the temporary fixtures used in a demonstration of the air mail pick up staged here nearly two years ago at the Gettysburg air port on Oak Ridge, Doctor Adams said.

Present tentative schedules call for a round trip daily here with a westbound plane passing at 9:47 o'clock in the afternoon. It was explained that these schedules have been arranged to coincide with schedules of air mail arrivals from other large cities at the two terminal points of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. Mail which goes into the air here will have a direct connection with all the transcontinental lines, it was stated.

Tentatively, DuBois, Pa., has been designated as the only stop on the flight for the mail planes. A westbound ship will leave Philadelphia at approximately the same time as one heads east from Pittsburgh each morning. They will meet at DuBois and both will land there briefly before continuing their courses.

Local men at Monday's session included: Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, C. A. Wills, C. W. Epley, C. A. Bixler, C. C. Culp, M. B. Frazee, Roy P. Funkhouser, C. F. Daley, Postmaster Williams and his assistant, George P. Black.

PART OF MAIL BOX MISSING

Postmaster C. A. Williams today asked the return of the front section of a mail box, including the lock, which disappeared after a mail box and post were shattered in an automobile accident last week at the corner of Carlisle and West Water streets. For his own protection the person who removed the lock and box section should return them, the postmaster stated, before an investigation.

PRESIDENT ASKS 150 MILLION TO MEET WPA CRISIS

Washington, Feb. 7 (AP)—President Roosevelt told congress today an "emergency" exists in relief and asked "immediate consideration" of an additional appropriation of $150,000,000 for W.P.A. for the next five months.

This figure represents the cut congress made in his request for $875,000,000 to carry W.P.A. from February through June. The White House announced earlier today the President had signed the $725,000,000 bill last Saturday.

In asking immediate consideration on what he termed the "simple and alarming facts" in the relief outlook, Mr. Roosevelt said in a message to congress that with only $725,000,000 available, W. P. A. either must reduce its rolls abruptly on April 1 by 1,000,000 persons or begin on that date a week-by-week reduction which by June 30 would drop employment from a present 3,000,000 to "a figure well below 1,500,000 persons."

"In other words," the President said, "the program of present employment would be slashed considerably more than one-half within a period of three months."

Mt. Holly Springs Lions Club Receives Charter

More than 100 guests from various nearby communities joined with members of the newly-organized Lions Club of Mt. Holly Springs last evening at a charter night banquet held in the social rooms of the Methodist church at Mt. Holly Springs.

Guests included 29 Lions from Gettysburg and representatives from the Carlisle, Hanover, Newville and Dillsburg clubs.

Dr. David Stayer, president of the new club, announced that the organization already has thirty-two members. Plans were launched to boost the membership to fifty last evening when district officers presented the charter to the new club.

District Court Judge Complimented by Jurors

A unique tribute to Judge Albert W. Johnson, of the Middle District United States courts is that embodied in a letter from all the jurors who served during the sessions at Lewisburg which closed last Thursday. Adams county is included in the territory served by the middle district courts.

After having spent three weeks in court, the jurors were impressed by the attitude of the court and through Fred W. Terry, one of their number, extended "grateful thanks as a token of our mutual and increasing admiration and esteem and of our gratitude for your labors in our behalf."

Methodist Youth League Meets in Littlestown

Fifteen Gettysburg young people were among 91 persons who attended a meeting of the Adams county-Hanover Methodist League of Youth, Monday evening in Littlestown. A program on race relations was conducted by the Littlestown branch of the league.

The guest speaker was the Rev. F. A. Lusan, A. M. E. Zion pastor of Gettysburg. Three Cherokee Indians, who reside along the Gettysburg-Hanover road, spoke of the customs of their tribe and sang and interpreted several Indian songs.

A business session, which was presided over by Christine Tanney, Gettysburg, the league adopted a constitution. A social hour followed.

Rev. Putman Describes Russia for Rotarians

Thirty-five members attended the regular weekly meeting of the Gettysburg Rotary club Monday evening in the Y. W. C. A. center square, and heard the Rev. Dwight F. Putman, pastor of Christ Lutheran church, describe his visit to Russia last summer.

The Rev. Mr. Putman spoke on his impressions of the religious, economic and educational programs being undertaken by the soviet people.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT
A daughter was born Monday evening at 6 o'clock in the York hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Rickrode, of York. Mr. and Mrs. Rickrode are natives of New Oxford. Mr. Rickrode is a brother of Mrs. James L. Myers, 258 East Middle street.

FACES TRAFFIC CHARGE
R. Frederick, Orrtanna R. 2, is to be charged before Justice of the Peace Robert Boyles with failing to yield half the highway to traffic. The arrest was made by an officer from the Gettysburg substation of the state motor police on the Mount Alto road south of Caledonia.

Miss Mary Arnold, Biglerville R. D., visited Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Weidner, near Idaville, over the week-end. John and Lawrence Cole visited at the Weidner home on Saturday.

300 ATTEND 23RD FARM MEETING

Gettysburg R. 2; A. D. Knouse, Biglerville; Edgar Leer, York Springs; N. C. Miller, New Oxford; Quintin D. Rebert, Littlestown R. 3; R. M. Spangler, Gettysburg R. 4; A. B. C. Williams, York Springs Roscoe Worley, Hanover; Mrs. B. E. Benner, Fairfield; and Mrs. Howard Schwartz, Littlestown R. 2.

The nominating committee report was presented immediately before the noon recess by John W. Luca-baugh, Berwick township, chairman. The other members of his committee were Guy Tanger, York Springs, and Mrs. C. B. Nail, Gettysburg. No additional names were offered from the floor and nominations were closed.

The meeting was called to order about 10 o'clock this morning by President Brown. After singing "America" brief devotions were conducted and routine business matters were handled.

Home Economics Program
One hour was devoted to the presentation of the work being done by the home economics extension department in this county with Mrs. B. E. Benner in charge. The Hampton group gave a playlet, "Yesterday and Today," and Mrs. E. H. Slaybaugh reported on "doings at Fairfield." A playlet was given by the Fairfield group entitled, "A Bargain in Sheets."

Miss Marjorie Scott told of activities at Barlow and Mrs. Vernon Baker told of developments at Greenmount. A pantomime "Farm Women in Action," was given by the Brushstown group. Mrs. George Shriver, Bendersville, gave a resume of 4-H club activities.

There was a skit, "Something About a Woman's Workshop," given by East Berlin women. "Needle and Thread" was the subject of a report by Mrs. Lewis Elthuff, of the Round Top group. Nine members representing groups in all sections of the county conducted a quiz session. Fairfield and Greenmount groups suggested apple dishes and Miss Mildred L. Adams, county home economics extension representative, spoke as that division of the program ended.

A home economics exhibit in the auditorium showed 300 dishes that may be prepared from Adams county apples and sheets listing dishes most fitted for various varieties of county apples were being distributed.

Farm Reports Heard
Agriculture reports were opened this morning but scheduled for completion this afternoon. Those given before noon follow: "Alfalfa Silage" by Harry E. Brown; results of hybrid corn tests reported on by Allen Walker, Gettysburg; steer feeding by A. B. C. Williams, York Springs, and 4-H pig feeding club, Lloyd Benner, Fairfield.

The farmers and their wives dined in the school cafeteria at noon and re-convened at 1:45 o'clock after a concert by the Gettysburg high school band. The election of directors was the first act of the afternoon session.

The principal speaker this afternoon was the Rev. Dwight F. Putman, Christ Lutheran church pastor. A one-act play by Gettysburg high school pupils will end the program late this afternoon.

H. G. Nissley, assistant director of the extension service at Pennsylvania State college, was a convention visitor this morning.

METHODISTS TO HOLD CONFAB

Thirteen persons attended the monthly luncheon of the York-Adams Methodist Ministerium which was conducted Monday at the local Methodist church. The pastors attended a business session during the afternoon at the local Methodist parsonage on Baltimore street, while their wives enjoyed a social hour.

The Rev. R. R. Miller, Stewartstown, York county pastor, presided.

LOOKING AROUND

NO basketball games are scheduled to be played on local courts this week but quite a number of fans will follow the Gettysburg college and high school teams on visits to foreign floors. On Wednesday the Bullets meet Franklin and Marshall on the Army floor in Lancaster in a battle for first place in the Eastern Pennsylvania collegiate league. The Gettysburg high cagers will play Chambersburg at Chambersburg Friday evening in their only game of the week.

At present it looks as though Johnny Yovicsin will be unable to perform against F. and M. Yovicsin, who has recently been showing well on the offense, sprained his ankle in the N.Y.U. contest Saturday evening and will probably not see action. The loss will be a severe blow to the locals who will need their full strength against an unusually strong F. and M. team. Trimmer will probably replace Yovicsin in the lineup.

A double-header for the wrestling teams of Gettysburg college will be staged in the college gym Friday evening as a result of the varsity-Temple match being moved up on Saturday. At 7 o'clock the jayvee squad will meet Scranton Keystone Junior college.

Varsity teams at Arendtsville will receive a rest this week. This evening the reserve team meets the Biglerville reserves as a preliminary to the Biglerville-Newville game at Biglerville. On Wednesday the Arendtsville frosh play at Cash-town.

Fairfield high's teams play at Smithsburg, Maryland, this evening. Coach Slaybaugh's boys have been coming along nicely and are primed for victory.

Games listed for the remainder of the week in the Eastern Pennsylvania college league follow: Wednesday, Gettysburg at F. and M., and Muhlenberg at Ursinus; Saturday, Gettysburg at Drexel, and Lebanon Valley at Albright.

ALL teams in the Southern Pennsylvania scholastic circuit get an off-night this evening but resume activities on Friday. Games scheduled for Friday are Gettysburg at Chambersburg, Hanover at Shippenburg, Hershey at Carlisle, and Mechanicsburg at Waynesboro.

C. E. Bilheimer, athletic director at Gettysburg college, announced today that reserved seats will be sold for all of the remaining Bulleit basketball games. Seats are also still available for the F. and M. game at Lancaster Wednesday.

Fairfield Wins One Of Three Contests

In a sensational goal tossing game the Fairfield Independents gained revenge for a previous one-point upset by defeating the Wilson Meat Packers of Harrisburg on the Fairfield floor Monday evening 63-47.

The Fairfield Independent girls' team dropped a close 37-34 decision to Cashtown despite a big last period rally. The Cashtown boys nosed out the Fairfield Independent reserve team 17-16.

Tense Moment in Gettysburg--N. Y. U. Tilt

Nine of the ten players in the basketball game between Gettysburg college and New York university in New York city Saturday evening are shown above during an exciting moment. On the floor at the left is an N.Y.U. player and then in succession are Bender, Gettysburg; two N.Y.U. men, the first of whom has just started the ball for the basket; O'Neill, Weems and Bommer, all of Gettysburg, and on the extreme right another N.Y.U. player. Yovicsin, of Gettysburg, may be seen sitting on the floor directly under the basket in the background. Gettysburg lost, 44-36. (Photo by Associated Press for The Gettysburg Times.)

Drexel Wants 1940 Grid Game With Gettysburg

C. E. Bilheimer, director of athletics at Gettysburg college, stated this afternoon that Drexel officials had requested the football game scheduled between Drexel and Gettysburg in 1940 be played as scheduled.

Contrary to reports in morning papers that Drexel would drop out of the Eastern Pennsylvania collegiate conference, the Dragons are merely cancelling games with Muhlenberg and F. and M. The request to play the Bullets as scheduled came after a cancellation had been sought.

KENTUCKY ASKS FOR FLOOD AID

Cincinnati, Feb. 7 (AP)—Fearing a belated report of disaster in flood-stricken mountain areas, Kentucky called for assistance today as the crest of the Ohio river moved past this city.

Dr. A. T. McCormack, state health commissioner at Louisville, said a heavy death list which might be revealed in the eastern section where the Ohio's tributaries swept to house-top levels Sunday.

"This is the worst flood in the history of the mountains," said Doctor McCormack, asking for an appropriation from the emergency fund of the United States Public health services.

Across the river from Cincinnati, residents of Newport and Covington, Kentucky, retreated as the Ohio reached a crest here of 58 feet. Police Chief Leo Livingston of Newport estimated 600 families had been removed from homes. The water inundated 35 city blocks. Red cross agencies were prepared to evacuate 1,200 families in the lowlands here.

Kentucky did not anticipate an emergency from the oncoming crest of the Ohio. Meteorologist J. L. Kendall at Louisville said the city had a "big margin of safety" with a predicted high of 34 feet.

At Frankfort, the Kentucky river covered the low lying sections with a foot of water, blocking highways.

Homes along southern Indiana's border were abandoned, setting relief agencies in motion at Aurora, Lawrenceburg and Evansville.

Four boats and 54 men from the Long Island, New York, coast guard stations were ready for orders to aid rescue work, and at Cleveland, Lieut. Commander E. Zoole said division stations had been issued stand-by orders.

The Red Cross estimated 10,000 families affected by floods in five states.

COLLISION IN HANOVER
No one was injured but considerable damage was done when automobiles operated by Eugene Smith, Hanover, and Merle Shank, New Oxford R. 1, collided on Broadway, Hanover, Sunday morning at 2:30 o'clock. Smith, traveling east on Broadway, attempted a left turn into an alley. The Shank car, traveling west, struck the right side of the Smith car, pushing it 25 feet across the road. Damages were placed at $75 to the Shank car and $30 to the Smith machine.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—Max Schmeling's visit is puzzling the big town.

The German is doing absolutely nothing except go to the movies and play cards in his hotel suite. Confidentially, Redcliffe of the Yanks isn't sending friends clippings of the scores he is making in the Concord, (New Hampshire) bridge league.

The situation being what it is, Prof. Joe Stripp will delay adding a course in holding out to his Orlando baseball school until next year. The dolls out on the Pacific coast have voted Wes Ferrell the best looking major leaguer. Van Lear (Kentucky) must have had an off night recently when it was drubbed at basketball, 108 to 2.

A Fort Worth store blocked sidewalk traffic by filling a show window with just 20 of Davey O'Brien's football trophies. Already Bucky Harris is having tail troubles down at Orlando. He had the hotel in a dither trying to find a bed long enough to park Bob Garner, 6 foot, 7 inch right-hander. Lawson Little has had his British and American amateur medals made into attractive money clips.

All George Page, Yale basketball guard has to do to inherit a million yams is get his diploma in June. Zeke Bonura is visiting pals in Texas and they say he looks as sleek and slim as a race horse. He went to a party which lasted till 4 a. m. and didn't so much as blow the foam off one. The way Lou Gehrig is adding those grey hairs, he'll succeed Trit Speaker as the "grey eagle" of the majors.

Whose name (besides Mungo's) was mentioned when the Messrs. Terry, McKechnie and MacPhail went into a huddle after the baseball writers' feed? It was written into the last few contracts Babe Ruth signed with the Yanks that he could retire from the game whenever his dogs began barking.

Cummings, Auto Racer, Injured in Accident

Indianapolis, Feb. 7 (AP)—An ordinary highway accident put William C. (Wild Bill) Cummings, 32, of Indianapolis, nearer death today than ever before in years of automobile racing highlighted by his winning the 1934 500-mile race here.

His passenger car hit a soft shoulder near Indianapolis Monday night, plunged through a rail guarding a bridge approach and tumbled 50 feet into Lick creek, throwing him on his face into two feet of water. Passersby pulled him out unconscious and saved him from drowning.

He was reported in critical condition from possible brain concussion.

STOCK REPORT

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—A dribble of selling gave the stock market a slight offside push today and lead-ers yielded fractions to around a point. Volume was about half that of Monday, even though several low-priced utilities came out in blocks of several thousand shares at minor concessions. Near mid-day extreme losses were reduced in many cases, but the ticker tape moved sluggishly.

DEATHS

Mrs. McCadden Buried

Funeral services for Mrs. Lewis V. McCadden, 71, 7 Hanover street, who died Saturday evening in the Warner hospital from shock due to a fall last Wednesday, were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the H. B. SENATE GIVES APPROVAL TO REVENUE HEAD

Harrisburg, Feb. 7 (AP)—Failure of democratic protests against Governor James' nomination of William J. Hamilton, Jr., for secretary of Revenue, left only one cabinet appointee today to be confirmed by the senate.

Remaining to be acted upon is the nomination of Major Lynn G. Adams as motor police commissioner. Democrats and labor leaders have protested his appointment. Republican leaders were uncertain whether they would bring up the nomination today.

Amid sharp debate, weeks of quarreling over James' selection of Philadelphia's sheriff to head the Revenue department ended Monday night with a 43 to 4 vote in favor of Hamilton's nomination—nine more votes than the republicans needed.

The only negative votes were cast by democrats: Anthony J. Cavalcante, Fayette; J. Albert Reed, Washington; John H. Dent, Westmoreland, and C. Hale Sipe, Armstrong.

Senator Jerome H. Jaspian (D-Phila.) opened the debate shortly after the all-republican executive nominations committee approved the appointment. He complained Hamilton was "evasive" in his explanation about retaining sheriff's office fees, but said he thought it was the governor's privilege to select his own cabinet.

Gilbert Wolfenden (R-Indiana) declared "Hamilton bent over backward to pay out the funds in his hands."

Cavalcante argued the governor's choice should not be "absolute." He protested Hamilton's action, as sheriff, in notifying the senate several weeks ago that Senator P. J. Henney (D-Allegheny) had elected to quit the senate rather than resign as Allegheny county coroner.

Funds for Relief
Aside from approving finally two bills transferring $4,000,000 from funds to finance relief, the senate devoted most of its session to the Hamilton fight.

Democrats renewed their objections to dipping into funds which they said republicans, in other times, had considered "sacred," but the measures were sped to the governor's desk, by votes of 27 to 19.

In order to enact another $22,000,000 relief appropriation without risking a halt in the flow of funds to the needy, and yet give Governor James time to prepare his budget message—originally planned for presentation this week—the senators and representatives decided to remain in session all week.

A session beginning at 12:01 a. m. Friday was determined upon to provide the five legislative days necessary to complete action on the appropriations bill.

The money to come from special funds already transferred, was to carry relief through the remainder of the biennium, which ends May 31.

"Can it be that in the desire for haste to get rid of the general assembly for two weeks, they do not want us to know that the promised tax reduction is not going to be a reality?" asked Herbert B. Cohen, democratic house floor leader.

James earlier had said that "we've been seriously considering the various economy plans which have been advanced. The legislators are just a bit bewildered with the whole situation, but I guess we all are."

The legislative leaders expected to spend most of their time at the capitol despite the recess.

Several debates marked the house session.

Representative Elmer Holland and L. Kenneth Harkins, both Allegheny county democrats, protested the administration's stoppage of flood control activities.

"When they stop flood control, those people who are drowned in floods should come here and haunt them for the rest of their lives," said Holland.

Criticize Davis

He also criticized United States Senator James J. Davis' vote in congress against the proposed $850,000,000 W.P.A. appropriation. Republicans Harry Trout of Lancaster and Robert Woodside, Jr., of Dauphin, the party's floor leader, defended the senator.

Measures to set up machinery for compulsory sterilization of mental defectives were introduced by Representatives Edwin Winner (R-Montgomery). He said they would put into effect the ideas of "two noted psychiatrists" and would "promote the public welfare."

Elsewhere in the capitol: Secretary of Highways I. Lamont Hughes received protests from a group of businessmen located along the Lincoln and William Penn highways, against construction of the Pittsburgh-Harrisburg super-highway. He said they objected on "economic" grounds but "didn't bring forth anything new."

The general state authority's chief counsel advanced the possibility the commonwealth might have to pay the general contractors their full profits if James halted construction of the maximum security prison at Mt. Gretna and a new industrial school for boys at White Hall, near Harrisburg. The governor had said he might cancel the projects to save money.

A report of the state labor relations board showed that the law might prevent the proposed creation of a citizens' committee which would refer minor labor disputes to the board, only if the committee could not settle them.

Public utility commissioners kept "hacking away" at the second tentative commission budget rejected by the governor, in hopes of presenting one to satisfy him and release the commission's pay checks.

DOUBLE COLLISION

IN HANOVER, MONDAY

Two automobiles and a truck were damaged in a double collision on Broadway, Hanover, Monday evening. A truck of the Crystal dairy, operated by Millard Basehoar, Littlestown R. D., traveling out Broadway, turned around and again entered Broadway, heading toward the square. The truck collided with an automobile operated by Emmanuel S. Bair, Hanover R. 3, and then struck a parked car owned by Robert C. Grove, of Hanover.

Officer J. Frank Mulhorn, of the Hanover borough police, is investigating. Basehoar had left the scene before the officer arrived. Owners of the automobiles said Basehoar agreed to pay the damages. Damage to the Bair car was estimated at $25 and damage to the Grove car was placed at $5.

An Evening Thought

Others need to be as true to what we are to ourselves, that there may be grounds for friendship.

—Thoreau.

Out of the Past

Happenings of days gone by as chronicled in The Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times the files reveal.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Local Miscellany: E. M. Bender and J. O. Blocher have bought the business of Messrs. Nathaniel and P. A. Miller. They will do business as E. M. Bender & Co.

On Wednesday Senator Martin introduced a bill appropriating $2,000,000 for the common schools which has received much favorable comment from the press.

All the buildings on the campus will probably be heated from a central steam plant to be located on the college grounds.

J. L. Butt, Attorney-at-law. Office with J. A. Kitzmiller, Esq., second story, Spangler building, Baltimore street.

Historical Society: The Adams County Historical Society met in the rooms of the Athenaeum yesterday evening. Hon. Edward McPherson presiding and Rev. J. K. Demarest, Secretary. There was a good attendance and much interest shown in the object of the Association. Col. John H. McClellan, Mr. Joseph J. Kerr, Hon. Wm. McClean, Hon. John A. Swope and Mr. Jeremiah W. Diehl were elected members.

Dr. P. M. Bickle was requested to prepare a paper on the literary history of the county: Wm. McSherry, Jr., Esq., one on the history of the temperance movement in the county, and John M. Krauth one on the military history of the county.

Rev. J. K. Demarest was requested to reduce to writing, for the purpose of publication, some interesting remarks made by him at a previous meeting on Black's grave-yard.

Personal Mention: Miss Elizabeth Buehler is visiting her sister in Hagerstown.

Miss Filbert, of Pine Grove, is the guest of Mrs. E. S. Breidenbaugh.

J. C. Neely, Esq., left yesterday for a short visit to Philadelphia.

Mr. Samuel Cobean, of Kansas, is visiting his parents in Cumberland township.

Miss Paper Sefton is visiting friends in Emmitsburg, Md.

Mr. Winfield G. Horner died in Emmitsburg Friday afternoon after a brief illness. Mr. Horner was a son of the late Mr. David W. Horner, of this county, and was aged 43 years. For a number of years he has been engaged in the banking business in Emmitsburg, and had a large circle of friends. A widow, the eldest daughter of the late W. T. King of this place, and three children survive him. His remains were interred in the cemetery of this place on Monday.

Mr. James S. Croll, of Harrisburg, has been visiting his parents during the past week.

Miss Mary Stahley, of this place, is visiting her sister, Mrs. T. C. Linn, Salisbury, N. C.

Sergt. N. G. Wilson will start for Erie on Saturday to represent Corporal Shelley Post at the Department Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic to be held there Feb. 19.

Mrs. G. L. Grammer has gone to Phoenixville, Pa., to attend the funeral of her mother, Mrs. Musselman.

Death of Dr. L. H. Croll: As we go to press the sad news reaches us of the death of Prof. L. H. Croll, SC. D., vice president and professor of mathematics and astronomy in Pennsylvania College.

Dr. Croll was born in Middletown, Pa., August 8, 1834, and entered the preparatory department of Pennsylvania College in 1850. He graduated with one of the honors of the class, the Latin Salutatory, in 1855.

In 1856 Dr. Croll was called to the chair of Mathematics and Astronomy in the college, and has filled it with great acceptance and fidelity since that time. In 1873 he was elected vice president. Dr. Croll has been during his residence here, one of the most active members of Christ church, having served as deacon and secretary of the Council. He also served one term as member of the Gettysburg School Board and was president of that body. In 1887 in recognition of his learning and attainments his Alma Mater conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Science.

This attitude became known as the State department released correspondence dating back to 1923 which showed such a policy previously had been followed.

(Recently intimations came from Tokyo that the development companies being formed there for the business improvement of China would be open to American and other foreign capital.)

OFFICERS KEPT BUSY

Coatesville, Pa., Feb. 7 (AP) — Chicken thefts in Chester county have become so numerous, says County Detective Francis Grubb, that officers have to spend most of their time hunting the thieves. He said proximity of Chester county to markets made it a "fertile field" for "organized gangs" operating from headquarters in nearby counties.

ferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Science.

A widow and four children survive him, who have the heartfelt sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

The funeral will take place on Thursday at 2:30 o'clock.

Landlord's Association in Gettysburg: A meeting of the Landlords of Gettysburg was held on Wednesday evening, Jan. 30, and at this meeting a list of persons of intemperate habits was agreed upon, to whom the Landlords pledged themselves not to sell nor allow to be sold intoxicating drinks. Each barkeeper is to be furnished with a list and will not be allowed to sell any person on that list.

By request of the professors of Pennsylvania College, they agreed also not to sell or allow to be sold, intoxicating drinks to any of the students. The Association have agreed to hold monthly meetings to compare views and adopt measures to prevent the violation of the license laws. This is certainly a step in the right direction.

Biglerville Items: Henry Roth, while cutting wood for Wm. Cully, had the misfortune to cut himself badly on the left knee.

A meeting was called in the public school building on Monday evening for the purpose of discussing sidewalk building, and was called to order by Henry Koser. J. W. Pettis was elected president and C. P. K. Walter, Esq., secretary. A vote was taken as to which side of the street the walk is to be built. The following committee was appointed to solicit funds and superintend the work: W. A. Knouse, S. A. Bream, C. P. K. Walter, J. W. Pettis and Henry Koser.

Mr. J. W. Spangler, employed by the Carlisle Car Manufacturing Co., has returned home on account of sick work.

THE RECEPTION

WHEN the lamb had left, Rip felt a little guilty about his thoughts of Sweet Face. After all the lamb was as sweet as could be, always in a good temper. He just wasn't a hard worker and that was that, whereas Rip loved to help Willy Nilly.

Christopher Columbus Crow walked down the bumpy Puddle Muddle hills toward the stream at the end of the pond and Sweet Face, the lamb, followed along.

"Mrs. Quacko, Mrs. Quacko," cawed Christopher.

"Here I am," quacked Mrs. Quacko, waddling up to the side of the bank. "I was just telling the ducklings about keeping their webbed feet clean—when there is too much mud or dust around—and I was telling them how they must brush their wings, particularly when it's hot and dusty, and how they must polish their beaks."

"But we're having nice, clean walking now," cawed Christopher. "The snow is as white as can be. Suppose you give them their lesson in neatness later on and attend the reception Mrs. Quacko is giving."

"A reception?" quacked Mrs. Quacko excitedly. "Why I have nothing to wear that she hasn't seen before. Well, maybe I could fix up a little bonnet of moss and twigs and tie it on with some long grass I put aside this fall."

"You'll be all right," cawed Christopher. "The reception is to be tomorrow afternoon and Mrs. Quacko said to tell you that the guest of honor was to be a Miss Puddle Duck."

"Miss Puddle Duck?" repeated Mrs. Quacko with interest. "I wonder if her relations once came from Puddle Muddle!"

"You'll find out soon enough," cawed Christopher. "I can depend on your duckish curiosity."

"Of course you're not in the least curious," quacked Mrs. Quacko. But she did not bother about any more talk. She wanted to get ready for the party.

Tomorrow—"A Grand Arrival"

U. S. to Discourage Investments in China

Washington, Feb. 7 (AP)—The administration will discourage any American investment, officials indicated today, in proposed Japanese corporations designed to develop industry, commerce and agriculture in China.

This attitude became known as the State department released correspondence dating back to 1923 which showed such a policy previously had been followed.

(Recently intimations came from Tokyo that the development companies being formed there for the business improvement of China would be open to American and other foreign capital.)

Coatesville, Pa., Feb. 7 (AP) — Chicken thefts in Chester county have become so numerous, says County Detective Francis Grubb, that officers have to spend most of their time hunting the thieves. He said proximity of Chester county to markets made it a "fertile field" for "organized gangs" operating from headquarters in nearby counties.

Today's Talk

—By George Matthew Adams—

THE WRITER

ALL writers, of course, are different. If it were not so there would not be so many of them. But typical of them all is that long, often agonizing, pre-birth of ideas.

Gestation is forever going on within the body-mind of the writer. Here, there, and everywhere, he is influenced. His eyes are gathering, his mind masticating, and his heart creating warmth, so that when that which he gives to the world is finally born, there may come a sense of satisfaction in that he has been true to his art. To him, at least, his efforts and experience must bear some phase of pride, especially in his own sincerity.

The world was deprived of a great giant in literature when Thomas Wolfe was taken out of the world a few months ago. He lived through a dozen or more tragedies as he wrote. Just before he started his fourth novel, he told me he intended putting into that book every last ounce of all that he was—and as he explained to me what he intended writing, the sweat rolled from his big brow. Soon that book will be published, but I wonder how many people will feel that perhaps he became a martyr to his tremendously sincere effort to create?

The stories of Earl Derr Biggers, creator of "Charlie Chan," read smoothly and as though they had taken no effort; yet he once told me that he sat before his typewriter for three months, suffering tortures, because he could not write a line!

John Steinbeck, whose stories are so realistic, but which only recently have been given the attention they so richly deserve, destroyed two or three finished novels before he would allow any publication—and when he submitted his first ones, they were turned down by several publishers! His characters are so real that should any of them meet him on the street, they would immediately call him their friend.

A writer has to go through quite a number of hells before he comes to his heaven! The characters of Dickens still live because Dickens lived. Read the life story of Edna Ferber. You will then understand why it was she determined to write, and why it is that she has gained the fine and just recognition that has been hers for so long.

The writer has to die a few times before he can make his writings live, and be read by those who have lived.

Dangerous Service

—By Grace Elliott Taylor—

The Characters

Peter Mallone: Madcap Journalist.
Petronella: His young, pretty sister.

Yesterday: Aunt Maisie is dangerously ill but insists that Petrel go to Germany and find Peter.

Chapter 18
Rene

THE Air Service bus jolted into the great city. Berlin! Wide streets, heavy stone houses, poorly dressed, unsmiling people, uniforms everywhere, no flowers.

Petronella sat beside a window. The dark Latin young man who had taken upon himself the job of escorting her, pointed out things of interest, as they went. If she had been feeling less anxious, she might have enjoyed his company. He was attentive, amusing, so good looking, she thought, glancing again at him, that he was almost beautiful. His straight, thick hair was brilliant. One lock fell across his forehead. It gave him a wild, artistic air. He was pale, with straight features, and soft dark eyes.

It was strange, thought Petronella, that nature should have given him such large, nice, ungustulating hands. At first, when she had allowed him to get into conversation with her, she had judged him to be a professional dancer, a dress designer, or even a young man connected with the ballet. But his hands seemed to rule out these professions. His name, she had learned, was Rene Howard. He was French, on his mother's side. He had inherited everything from her, she thought, except his fists. They were "Howard." He was so charming, that she had told him her errand. But she had not admitted that Peter had done anything to merit imprisonment. Now, he said suddenly:

"Miss Mallone, lunch with me at my hotel, the Frankfurt, to talk a little. I believe I can help you, if you will." Petronella's brows lifted a fraction. She met his eyes. But he was smiling with such amusement, and laughed so infectiously at her expression, that she was compelled to laugh herself.

"You need not be afraid. I have no evil designs. Please trust my good-will."

"All right, I'll believe you, but I don't quite see—"

"You have not asked me what I do for my living, Miss Petronella Mallone. Now see, I throw myself on your kindness with confession. I do nothing! I am a slacker, a sponger, a barnacle. Therefore I have plenty of time to interest myself in the affairs of other people. Some say harder things than that of me, but I would rather you did not believe them. I am the blue-eyed boy of a particularly wealthy aunt of mine. She is a lonely old woman. She travels continuously. She is exhorting company. She is rather a gay old woman. I am to be her heir. So we travel together. Our relationship is continually misunderstood, but I do not care. I have tried steady jobs, and I do not like work. People can think what they please. We seldom meet the same people, for more than a month. Except in Berlin. My aunt has an apartment in the Wilhelmstrasse. She knows many influential men in Germany. If anyone can help you to see your brother, she can. Since she is always threatening to write her autobiography, this gives her considerable influence." Some illusive change in Rene, while he was speaking, prompted Petrel's intuition to leap in advance of any definite evidence.

"You're being very kind, but why should you trouble? And take the risk of interesting yourself in my affairs? No one told you to travel by this plane, and help me, did they?"

He laughed a moment too late. "Whatever made you think a thing like that?"

"I don't know. Only you came and sat beside me, when we took our places in the plane. I was anxious and flustered. I wasn't looking very attractive. That other woman, in black, was much more your type. She was also sitting alone."

"She was not so young. However miserable you may be feeling, you cannot help that. Are you going to come and meet my Aunt Fleur—the Baroness Fleur von Cratz? Her apartment is just next door to my hotel."

Baroness von Cratz

In her mind, Petronella imagined the disapproval of Peter, Martin Rowdon and James, if they could see her. But she believed Rene. She knew he meant an unsophisticated English girl like herself no harm. She could not interest him. She, herself, was unattracted by him. But she liked him. "Yes, I'll come. I need any help I can get."

"We will call on her first thing. It might be that she would have room to put you up."

"I'd rather not do that. I must call at the Hotel Wilhelm. There may be messages for me, from my brother's paper."

"We will call there immediately afterwards."

The Baroness von Cratz was at home. She was seated at a littered desk in an immense room. The purple velvet, ivory laces, and heavy, old-fashioned jewelry she was wearing matched its overpowering, dusty splendor. The Baroness had white hair, dressed in a remarkable tower of roll curls on the top of her head. Her face was large, pale, and doughy, and her eyes mild, sentimental and blue. It was at once incredible, and understandable, that she had once been beautiful. But Petrel was vaguely disappointed in her. She had expected to meet an exceptional personality. Here, she could not help feeling, was a stupid old woman.

"Rene must take you to the Mobit Krankenhaus, as soon as you have got rid of your luggage," said his Aunt Fleur.

"They will not let her see her brother. Her first move should be to see the British Consul General," Rene told her. He spoke sharply, as if dining facts into a thick head. "And you will invite General Furoff to have supper with us at the Adlon, tonight, Aunt Fleur?"

The Baroness looked at Rene. "Very well," she said. Almost as if, when he made her a suggestion, it was a command, thought Petrel, puzzled.

"Did you bring me the beautiful handbag you promised me, Rene?" she asked. "You did not forget?"

"No. It is in my suitcase. As you can see, by looking round this room," he said to Petrel, "my aunt is childish about beautiful things. Come along, Miss Petronella."

Fencing

Peter Mallone stood on the wrong side of iron bars, looking at the sky. The windows in this ward of the Fortress of Glatz were small, and set high in the walls. When he first entered, he had wondered what it was that made this the barest hospital ward he had ever seen. He had realized: "The walls are gray. There are no flowers." Peter was dressed in rough, weave prison uniform. His right arm, which hurt him at the shoulder, with a dragging, wearying pain, was in a sling.

Outside, it was a gloriously hot, early September day. But in here, despite the shafts of sunshine, it still felt cool. The walls must be very thick. It must be deadly cold in the winter. How long would they keep him here? When would he next be grilled with questions, by those angry, steel-eyed men, by the stuffed and officious Prussian officers, in the little office down the maze of stone corridors? Had they believed a word he said? Did they think him dangerous, or harmless? He could not tell. Speaking execrable German, he had done his best to sound a fool. He had described his pleasant railway journey from Munich; his finding the admission ticket on the carriage floor, his conclusion that someone was not able to use it, and that anybody else who could, would be welcome.

"We have tickets for everything in England. But anyone can go," he had explained. But some of their questions had been awkward. Why had he thought it worth while going, since he spoke so little German? Why had he taken such interest in political affairs in Germany? He had played the enthusiastic amateur journalist as best he could, but he did not know if they believed him. It was lucky, though tantalizing, he supposed, that his arrest had preceded the chief speaker of the evening. Had that touch on his shoulder occurred half an hour later, he would certainly have been in for it. Not, he believed, that he would have learned much more than he had overheard at the bar, before the meeting started. But luckily they did not know that. If only he had not answered that fellow, who purposely asked him for a light. It was humbling, when two words of one's German gave one away. Hell, he was sick of this already. And he might be kept locked up here for weeks. Down the aisle, between the narrow beds, a man on crutches swung himself painfully towards Peter. It was the fellow prisoner who spoke such good English, who had been unjustly discharged from his factory, because of his Jewish ancestry, who had gone out and got drunk, and assaulted a storm trooper. He was coming to talk to him again. He did not look very Jewish, Peter thought. He had fair hair. The man smiled.

"You are getting restless?"

Wasn't he a little too friendly? Suddenly on his guard, Peter listened. As though to confirm his sudden suspicion, his friend plunged back into the same welter of complaint against injustice, of half question, with regard to the future of what he termed "his people." Questions which he appealed to Peter to answer.

Peter found himself trembling as he turned those questions back again. He wasn't feeling too steady, to start with, thanks to this shoul-der, and a sleepless night. The thought of what he might have let out, had not instinct warned him, made him feel sick, trapped, jumpy. He was still fencing when the door opened.

Petronella walked into the room. He gave a shout of joy. She ran to him with a cry.

MOTHERS MAY GET "BONUS"

Harrisburg, Feb. 7 (AP)—A "baby bonus" of $50 for needy mothers in Pennsylvania is advocated by Representative John J. Baker, of Pittsburg.

He introduced a bill in the legislature Monday night providing for payment of the bonus if the mother is needy and has resided in the state for one year.

"My idea is not to increase the population," Baker said. "It's just to make sure mothers can depend on proper medical attention."

Dog racing would be permitted in the state under a bill introduced by Representative John L. Powers, Allegheny county democrat.

Wonderful for Piles

"Please send at once a large jar of San-Cura Ointment. It is wonderful for piles," writes J. N. Roebuck, of Cleveland. Antiseptic San-Cura is no less wonderful for minor burns, cuts, bruises and skin irritations. 35c and 60c at all drug stores.

The measure would create a state racing commission of three members at a salary of $2,000 a year each which would be authorized to issue permits for dog races.

A ten per cent tax on the gross receipts and five per cent on bets wagered through pari-mutuel machines would be used for mothers' assistance and state-aided hospitals.

Other bills would:

Appropriate $50,000 to compensate Pennsylvania ex-soldiers, sailors or marines awarded distinguished service medals in all warfare, dating back to the Spanish-American conflict.

THE MARKETS

Market prices at the Gettysburg warehouse, corrected daily, are as follows:

Wheat 72
Eggs 16
Butter 15

Philadelphia
Butter unchanged. Top grades, 27 1/2c; 92 score, 26 1/2c; 91 score, 26c; 90 score, 25 1/2c; 89 score, 25c; 88 score, 24 1/2c; 87 score, 24c.
Eggs—Receipts, 2,585; steady. U. S. extra, white, 24 1/2c; brown, 24 1/2c; U. S. standards, Nos. 1 and 2, 19 1/2c; Nos. 3 and 4, 18 1/2c; extras, 17 1/2c; mediums, extra or better whites, 19 1/2c; mediums, standards, 17 1/2c.

CATTLE—Despite comparatively small receipts in the cattle department yesterday morning, trading all through the list ruled rather slow, there was little quotable change in price from late last week. Sales of steers were made on a steady to a shade higher basis, while shepherds and bulls brought around steady rates. Two carload consignments of good 1,250-pound Virginia fed steers headed yesterday's price list at $10.10 per cwt. Other steers consisted principally of medium and good grades of around 900-1,150-pound offerings that went into killers' possession, within a price spread of $8.50-9.75. Heifers were decidedly in the minority and hardly enough all told to test the market on that class, a few head at $6.75-7.50. Odd head of good weight beef cows reached $7.25 and bulk of fat cows cleared at $5.25-6, very few noted above the latter price. Low-cutter and cutter grades of cows released at $4.45. Plain and medium grades of bulls got action at $6.75, and light cutters kinds dropped as low as $5. A sizable lot of lightweight medium grade stocker steers went on country account at $8.50 per cwt. CALVES—Slow, steady market was found in the local calf alleys and at current rates the good grade weaners brought $12.25-12.50, mostly. Medium grade sorts went at $10.11-11.50, and the cull and common kinds from $7.50-8.50.

HOGS—Outlet for hogs on the week's opener was steady with Saturday and 15c. higher than Friday's levels. The good and choice grades of 150-200 pound weights were scheduled at $8.40-8.65, practical top pegged at $8.65; medium weight butchers selling from $10-240 pounds and the 120-140-pound slaughter pigs both sold within a price spread of $8.10-8.35, while the 250-300 pounds were listed at $7.70-8.00, a few weightier butchers ranged down to $7.50 or under. Good packing sows weighing 400 pounds down went at $6.50-6.90 and weightier sows $6.40-6.85. Sows were again quoted from $5.50 down. Hogs from doubtful areas and those fattened on garbage or swill and price premiums occasionally paid for through-billed rail consignments purchased for reshipment are not represented in above quotations.

ROCKS—Rock, 18-20c; mixed colors, 17-19c. FOWL—Culls, 10-15c; Leghorns, 15-17c. ROOSTERS—12-14c. DUCKS—Young Pekins, 14-16c; Muscovy, whites, 16-17c; blacks, 12-15c. GESE—Young, nearly, 15-16c, few higher. CULINARS—Over 2 pounds, 45-50c; smaller, 30-35c, each. TURKEYS—Young hens, mostly 32c; young toms, mostly 25c. CAPONS—Over 7 pounds, 25-27c; smaller 22-24c.

APPLES—Mkt. dull. Bu. bas.: Md. Pa. Va., W. Va., U. S. 1c, 2 1/2-in. min. Delicous, $1.50-1.55; few higher; Rome, 90c-1.10; York, mostly $1; few higher; Staymans, $1.15-1.25; few higher; 2 1/2 and 3 in. min., $1.25-1.35; few higher; Grimes, U. S. 1c, 2 1/2-in. min., $1.10-1.15; Stars, 75c-90c; Black Twigs, $1.10-1.15. Various varieties, unclass., best 60-65c, few higher; poorer, 50-60c. Boxes Washington extra fancy Delicous, $2.15-2.25; fancy Delicous, $1.50-1.55; C Grade Delicous, mostly $1.10; extra fancy Staymans, $1.75-1.85; fancy Staymans, mostly $1.60. END OF FIGHT IN SPAIN IS BELIEVED NEAR Perpignan, France, Feb. 7 (AP)—An end to the civil war which has paralyzed Spain and endangered the peace of Europe for thirty months appeared imminent today. Dr. Juan Negrin, premier of government Spain, and his last die-hard supporters were reported in diplomatic circles to be swinging around to the view that they must yield. President Manuel Azana abandoned all appearance of clinging to his post as chief executive of the republic. After coming to France Sunday and staying a day near the frontier he went to a French retreat at Collonges, close to Geneva. Fighting in northern Spain appeared to be over.

Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco checked the pace of his armies marching through the northeastern province of Catalonia toward the French frontier while columns of defeated government troops and refugees withdrew into France. Negrin was still in Spain today, but diplomatic sources said he was bending all his efforts toward orderly evacuation of his northern troops and the escape of refugees who had not yet crossed the border.

Foreign Minister Julio Alvarez del Vayo, who conferred with envoys of France and Great Britain Monday night at Le Perthus, remained in close touch with the two powers, which were understood to be consulting Franco in return.

Further Resistance Useless
Ralph Stevenson, British minister to Spain, was said by informed diplomatic sources to have told Alvarez Del Vayo that France and Britain believed further resistance in central Spain would be useless.

At the same time it was reported Franco had assured France that complete occupation of northern Catalonia would be delayed long enough to permit orderly evacuation of government soldiers and refugees across the border.

Alvarez Del Vayo was said to have reported these developments to Negrin in a small unidentified town on the Spanish side of the border during the night.

After the first negotiations broke down Saturday because of the Spanish government's demand for a plebiscite, diplomatic sources said the government had modified its demands and now was asking nothing except assurances that peace would bring no reprisals and would leave Spain independent.

The negotiations were surrounded by secrecy, but diplomatic circles expressed the belief that a long continuance of the war appeared impossible.

The insurgents gradually were closing in on the cornered government forces. On Monday they planted their red and gold banners on the border of the little republic of Andorra on their left flank. In the center they were just south of the French-Spanish border town of Puigcerda. On the right they were at the mouth of the Ter river, still about 25 miles south of the border. When they finally sweep up to the the march that started in Spanish Morocco July 18, 1936, the Spanish government — already forbidden to function on French soil — must make its final decision as to whether it will move to the central front or abandon the conflict.

Spanish government troops, having given up as hopeless the idea of further resistance in Catalonia, continued to move into concentration camps on the French side of the border. Civilian refugees were sent to shelters in the interior of France. Both troops and civilians were being maintained by the French government at a daily cost of about ten francs (26 cents) a person.

Albert Sarraut, French minister of the interior, said France could not offer asylum to members of the Spanish government as long as they pursued the civil war.

"France will shelter the refugees," he said, "but not members of the government which has not resigned."

Spanish troops were pouring across the border — and giving up their arms to French guards — at the rate of nearly 6,000 an hour. All frontier posts were jammed by long lines.

BRITONS TO STUDY U. S.'s NEW DEAL
London (AP)—A party of twenty British writers, teachers and others interested in President Roosevelt's New Deal will visit the United States in April.

Under the leadership of the Hon. Hubert Howard, son of Lord Howard of Penrith, former British ambassador in Washington, the party will visit New York, Washington, the Tennessee valley, Chicago, and Detroit.

They will inspect New Deal projects, and have talks with leading politicians, business men, labor leaders, and other prominent supporters and critics of the President.

There Are Two Ways to Get at Constipation

Yes, and only two ways—before and after it happens! Instead of enduring those dull, tired, head-ache days and then having to take an emergency medicine—why not KEEP regular with Kellogg's All-Bran? You can, if your constipation is the kind millions have—due to the lack of "bulk" in modern diets. For All-Bran goes right to the cause of this trouble by supplying the "bulk" you need.

Eat this toasted nutritious cereal every day—with milk or cream, or baked into muffins—drink plenty of water, and see if your life isn't a whole lot brighter! Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

Hartman's Report

A summary of the annual report of County Farm Agent M. T. Hartman on his activities during the last year as presented to the members of the Agricultural Extension association today follows:

The county agent lists 240 days in the field and 162 days in which he spent a part or all of the time in his court house office. He received 826 office calls and 340 telephone calls for advice or assistance; wrote 703 letters and made 607 farm visits; conducted 91 public meetings which were attended by a total of 5,619 persons; visited 75 local leaders and attended three executive committee meetings; prepared 70 circular letters and mailed 15,050 copies of them besides distributing 322 bulletins, and traveled 14,467 miles in the performance of his duties and had the assistance of specialists on 166 days.

Specialists in 19 different branches of agricultural work were here at various times during the year.

Mr. Hartman's report went into detail on project activities and results obtained in agricultural economics, rural sociology, farm management, agricultural engineering, agronomy, animal husbandry, dairy husbandry, entomology, apiculture, farm forestry, pomology, vegetable gardening, ornamental horticulture, plant pathology, poultry and miscellaneous work.

The county agent's activities ranged from conducting demonstration meetings in a dozen lines of agriculture to giving a radio talk on fall care and management of lawns; from helping farmers to secure better breeding stock to assisting them in better accounting methods, and from running experimental tests in many varieties of seeds to checking demonstration apiaries in one of which more than 300 colonies of bees produced in excess of 25,000 pounds of honey last year.

Much work was done in fruit insect and disease control work with the county fruit growers and regular peach, apple and cherry spray letters were issued. Woodlot planting demonstrations were run. Tomato and sweet corn growers in the county were advised and aided and results of their methods were checked.

POPE SUSPENDS HIS ACTIVITIES DUE TO ILLNESS

Vatican City, Feb. 7 (AP)—Pope Pius XI suffered an attack of cardiac asthma which for the second time in less than three months forced him today to suspend his activities, a Vatican news service said.

Vatican circles said the Pope's asthma was aggravated by a mild attack of influenza. The illness apparently was considered less serious than that of November 25 when the Pontiff suffered a heart attack.

His staff did not summon cardinals who usually call when the Pope's illness is critical.

Vatican circles said the Pontiff was running a temperature of 99.5 degrees.

Vatican circles said the Holy Father keenly missed the presence of his regular physician, Dr. Amintore Milani, who has attended him almost daily since he was stricken ill in 1936.

Doctor Milani himself is ill with influenza.

The Pope cancelled all scheduled audiences, but summoned Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli, papal secretary of state, for a conference in his bedroom in the early afternoon.

The Pope, nearly 82, celebrated the seventeenth anniversary of his election Monday.

He took no part in public activities but received a few intimates in his private apartments and read many telegrams of congratulations.

He had a busy schedule planned for the end of this week.

Saturday is the tenth anniversary of the reconciliation between the Holy See and the Italian state, and the Pontiff was to address all Italian archbishops and bishops in private audience, during which it was believed he would explain the present status of relations between the Vatican and the fascist regime.

These relations recently have become strained as a result of fascist racial laws and fascist treatment of Catholic Action, a church organization.

On Sunday the Pope planned to attend a pontifical mass in St. Peter's cathedral to celebrate the 17th anniversary of his coronation.

The illness today was the first for His Holiness since he was stricken seriously with a heart attack November 25.

Although he recovered from that illness, his physicians expressed concern lest weakened health make it difficult for him to resist another serious attack.

Miss Adams' Report

The annual report of Miss Mildred L. Adams, county home economics extension representative, which was given today showed that 4-H foods clubs reached a new high in this county during the last year when clubs with a membership of 105 were conducted in addition to 95 clothing club members. The previous high foods club enrollment was close to 40 in 1936, although clothing club members were most numerous in 1936 when more than 175 girls belonged.

Miss Adams said 4-H club work had been conducted in Abbotstown, Aspers, Bendersville, Biglerville, Brumstown, Cashtown, East Berlin, Fairfield, Greentown, Hampton, Iron Springs, Littlestown, Orrtanna, Round Top and York Springs. A total of 198 girls enrolled in the clubs and 153 of them completed the year's work. The foods clubs prepared a total of 257 meals, including 966 dishes and the clothing clubs made 129 garments.

The home economics representative reported on project activities in food selection and preparation, baking, meal planning, 4-H foods and health. She told also of pattern study, undergarment construction, talks and discussions of better buymanship of hosiery, planning and selection of clothing and wardrobe club work.

In her report Miss Adams told of building a 4-H clothing club about Virginia Bradner, 12-year-old Brumstown girl who is partially paralyzed from infantile paralysis, but has completed her second year of club work. The 4-H meetings were arranged to be held at her home and she thoroughly enjoyed the club activities. She has won merit ribbons for two years at the annual county 4-H club round-up.

2 GUNMEN TIE 5 AND TAKE $2,300 IN PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, Feb. 7 (AP)—Two gunmen bound four clerks, a customer and the manager today and escaped with $2,300 from the Metropolitan Life Insurance company's office, a stone's throw from safety director's headquarters in the city-county building.

Manager Charles Silver said the pair apparently waited in a washroom until the company's 25 field agents departed and then walked into his office and told him, "this is a stickup, nobody'll get hurt."

One of the men rounded up the clerks and the customer, herded them into Silver's office and told them:

"Close your eyes. As long as you keep them closed, nothing will happen to you. If you don't—"

The pair picked up all the money in the cash register and fled. The company's office is in a building facing the courthouse.

One of the clerks said: "They came in like customers, pointed guns and told us to put up our hands. They had rope with them, and tied us up, they told us to keep quiet for three minutes and we did."

PROTEST '3RD' STATE HIGHWAY

anything new," he commented after a delegation from territory along the Lincoln and William Penn highways protested the third route on "economic" grounds.

E. S. Shuck, of Clearfield, led the group first to Governor James' office. The chief executive sent them to Hughes, whom he has instructed to report of advisability of completing the $61,000,000 project.

Shuck, secretary of the William Penn and Lincoln Highway association, said:

"We asked Mr. Hughes to make an economic survey of the effect of the new road on not only the existing parallel highways but ultimately on the entire highway system of the state, and to prove or disprove our statement that it would be better to decline $61,000,000 of federal funds and the temporary employment of 6,000 to 8,000 persons as against the loss of $200,000 in business and capital equities and the permanent loss of jobs for 20,000 to 25,000 people along existing highways."

"Two military highways across Pennsylvania can be provided for President Roosevelt's national defense program at one-third the cost of the proposed $65,000,000 tunnel route by developing the present Lincoln highway and William Penn highway."

"Furthermore millions of dollars of capital invested in businesses all of which is placed in jeopardy by the new highway, will be safeguarded if the present trans-state highways are developed to modern specifications."

While James withheld a statement of his attitude toward the project, work progressed on the new route over the roadbed and through the tunnels of the never-completed outh Penn railroad.

TWINS 2 DAYS APART

Berwick, Pa., Feb. 7 (AP)—Twin girls—born two days apart—gurgled in cribs at the Berwick hospital today. The babies were born soon after the mother, Mrs. Edwin Cross, came to the home of a sister when flood waters invaded her home at Pine Brook, New Jersey.

Mrs. Ethel Wilson was awarded $324 damages at Narrandera, Aust., after suing a hairdressing salon. She alleged a piece of her ear was burned off with a permanent wave.
